Contents

Articles Page

Measuring "the social evil": the incidence of venereal disease in interwar Scotland, by ROGER DAVIDSON 167

Henry Fogg (1707–1750) and his patients: the practice of an eighteenth-century Staffordshire apothecary, by JOAN LANE and ANNE TARVER 187

Illustrations from the Wellcome Institute Library: The life and times of the Myers collection, by SARAH BAKEWELL 197

News, Notes, and Queries 202

Book Reviews 203

Book Notices 223

JULY

Articles Page

"Humanizing" milk: the formulation of artificial feeds for infants (1850–1910), by T. B. MEPHAM 225

Cholera, quarantine and the English preventive system, 1850–1895, by ANNE HARDY 250

Interferon and its first clinical trial: looking behind the scenes, by TOINE PIETERS 270

Ibn al-Jazzār on women's diseases and their treatment, by GERRIT BOS 296

The transmission of learned medical literature in the Middle English Liber uricrisiarum, by JOANNE JASIN 313

Short Article

Sydenham, Locke and Sydenham's De peste sive febre pestilentiali, by GUY MEYNELL 330

Illustrations from the Wellcome Institute Library:

The papers of Sir Thomas Barlow, Bt, KCVO, FRS, PRCP, (1845–1945), by RICHARD K. ASPIN 333

Contents

	Page
News, Notes, and Queries	341
Essay Review, by G. S. ROUSSEAU	342
Book Reviews	345
Book Notices	350

OCTOBER

Articles	Page
Typhus and its control in Russia, 1870–1940, by K. DAVID PATTERSON	361
Palmitate or permanganate: the venereal prophylaxis debate in Britain, 1916–1926, by S. M. TOMKINS	382
Epidemiology of puerperal fever: the contributions of Alexander Gordon, by GEORGE W. LOWIS	399
British army surgeons with West Indian/West African service: a prosopographical evaluation, by SPENCER H. BROWN	411
Independent discovery in biology: investigating styles of scientific research, by NICHOLAS RUSSELL	432
Illustrations from the Wellcome Institute Library: Nicholas Gainsford: his book, by KEITH MOORE	442
News, Notes, and Queries	448
Essay Review, by CHRISTOPHER LAWRENCE	449
Book Reviews	453
Book Notices	472
Index	477